

May 21, 2026

Ontario health care members gear up to lobby MPs and rally for public health care. Federal government proposes changes to tighten aluminum import rules. U.S. policies toward Cuba are causing humanitarian suffering and threatening Canadian jobs. Coast Mountain Bus Company negotiations break down, and deadline to register for the BIWOC Conference.

 WHAT'S HOT TAKE ACTION

Unifor is welcoming a federal government proposal to tighten the rules on aluminum imports, calling it a meaningful step toward protecting Canadian jobs and industry from unfair trade.

READ MORE

Friday is the deadline to register for the Unifor Black, Indigenous and Workers of Colour Conference, happening June 12–14 in Port Elgin under the theme “Status, Safety, and Solidarity – The Power of Us.”

READ MORE

IN THE NEWS

Unifor health care and social services workers are bringing the fight for public health care to Queen’s Park May 25-28, lobbying elected officials to demand action on staffing shortages, funding, and frontline support.

READ MORE

Unifor raises the alarm over escalating U.S. interventionist policies toward Cuba in a letter to PM Carney, warning they are worsening the humanitarian crisis and threatening Canadian jobs.

READ MORE

Unifor members will join the Ontario Health Coalition for a massive rally at Queen's Park on May 28, calling on the provincial government to invest in public health care and address the growing staffing crisis across the province.

READ MORE

BARGAINING UPDATES

Unifor breaks off talks with Coast Mountain Bus Company over concession demands.

READ MORE